

Coursera Course Notes - Python for Everyone (Python Data Structures)

6.1 - Strings

- we can get at single character in a string using an index specified in square brackets
- index value must be an integer and starts at zero
  - ex. `>>> fruit = 'banana' >>> letter = fruit[1] >>> print(letter) -> a`
- index value can be an expression that is computed